NCDR[®]
NATIONAL CARDIOVASCULAR DATA REGISTRY

National Cardiovascular Data Registry (NCDR) Action Registry Get with the Guidelines

Developed in 1997 by the American College of Cardiology, the NCDR was created as an exploration into strategies for improving cardiovascular care through the use and application of clinical data. Today, the NCDR is a reputable and dependable quality improvement resource that continues to evolve to meet the demands of the changing health care environment. Through the capture and reporting of trusted and reliable data, the NCDR helps participants measure, benchmark and improve cardiovascular care.

UnitedHealth Premium® Cardiac Specialty Center

The UnitedHealth Premium® Cardiac Specialty Centers designation program is a voluntary program that designates facilities offering quality, cost-effective cardiac procedures and cardiac care services. It is designed to help consumers make more informed health care choices. To be considered for designation as a UnitedHealth Premium Cardiac Specialty Center, hospitals must complete a survey and submit outcomes data to the American College of Cardiology (ACC) and/or the Society of Thoracic Surgeons (STS)
